"In the end, with the discussions, real world assignments and general overview of the sponsors roles and responsibilities, it has been reassuring for me that (a) I'm in the right seat on the right bus and (b) I have a pretty solid grasp of a complete job description. My confidence level has increased dramatically and that feeling of being overwhelmed has been mitigated (until some new exciting circumstances present themselves). Having national connections will be helpful on a go forward basis."

"It [Authorizer Bootcamp] has refined my eye to key points. Previously, it was a scatter shot, and I was overwhelmed. I feel I can streamline a good bit of my work more effectively."
